DFA Seminar for Veterinarians in cooperation with Ø-Vet – soon enrollment is needed

DFA and Ø-Vet jointly invite interested to a Seminar for Veterinarians employed on Pig Production farms in Eastern Europe. It takes place from Thursday 14 – Friday 15 September. Participants arrive on the 13th in the evening. The location will be decided, when we have the needed number of enrolled veterinarians.

Veterinarian Ken Steen Pedersen, Ø-Vet is in charge of the program and it will include similar activities that have successfully characterized previous years' seminars.

The main subject this year will be vaccines, vaccination programs and their effectiveness in relation to reducing antibiotic treatments, but all issues related to the work of the veterinarians can be taken up for discussion. It will as usual be based on issues related to the practical issues and challenges for the participants.

We need to get the registrations quickly so that we can determine if there will be enough participants to be able to conduct the seminar. So, registrations are requested by 21 July at the latest.
